Con Corazón Outreach Report

12th December 2024 – Marampaqui

Thanks to the valuable initiative of the entire Con Corazón team, we had the opportunity to bring a donation of clothing to the adults living in Marampaqui, a community located 4,000 meters above sea level in the Andes of Cusco. This time of year, is especially difficult for people living in such high areas, as the rains are constant, and the cold becomes much more intense due to the altitude. Low temperatures and humidity further complicate the daily lives of residents, who struggle to stay warm and protected from the harsh weather.

The donation of clothing was a gesture of solidarity that was received with great joy by the inhabitants of Marampaqui. Many of them expressed their gratitude for the support, as the clothes will allow them to better withstand the cold and humidity, improving their well-being at such a harsh time of year. This action reflects the true spirit of cooperation and empathy, and shows how teamwork can make a real impact on people's lives, giving them a little relief in their daily lives. Thanks to the joint effort, this community received a ray of hope in the midst of its difficult reality.
